

4. Describe testing of your system. Include details such as dates and location, who was present at each end of the path, signal strengths, general observations, and difficulties you encountered during operation of your 50 MHz transmitter-receiver.

5. What would you change if you had another 10 weeks to work on the design and construction of the prototype system?